ONLINE NATIONAL AGRICULTURE MARKET Empowering Farmers and Stabilising Food Prices

Prof. V.S. Tomar

India has made many strides in agricultural production but a lot needs to be done in the field of agricultural marketing. With significant changes taking place in agri-food systems of domestic and overseas markets, attainment of competitiveness has become increasingly dependent on the capacity of the country to develop effective and efficient agricultural marketing.

Presently, agricultural marketing system in India has a number of constraints which are related to infrastructure, regulations, technology, poor information on opportunities and domestic/overseas markets, unstable and uncertain produce prices, delayed payment to producers and lower price realization by producers. The existing marketing infrastructure like Rural Primary Markets, regulated wholesale and assembling markets, grading and quality control systems, retail markets, is not at par with the desired level, both in terms of capacity as well as quality of the facilities. Other infrastructural facilities for cold chain storage, linking of the commodity futures with the farmers, perishable cargo centres, rural farm road, market information and quality assurance of various agricultural commodities are also not up to the mark. This infrastructure is also inadequate for realizing the potential competitiveness of multiple commodities for taking them to the global markets.

In order to overcome these challenges, a proposal to set up online National Agriculture Market (NAM) was approved by the Cabinet Committee on Economic Affairs on July 01, 2015 through Agri-Tech Infrastructure Fund. Government has allocated Rs. 200 crore for three years to set up an online NAM by integrating 585 wholesale market across India. The plan is to cover 250 mandis in current fiscal year, 200 more mandis in 2016-17 and rest of the 135 mandis in 2017-18. The main objectives of the scheme are :

(a) Reforming the existing marketing system by redesigning the market structure, ushering in transparency, leveraging technology in operations, providing a well-functioning regulatory framework, encouraging private participation along with regulated markets so that the seller has a real choice. It also aims at making banking an inherent part of the marketing function by collecting the sale consideration from the buyer and remitting the same to the bank account of the seller which would put an end to payment related issues faced by the seller.

- (b) Resolving issues of information asymmetry by encouraging analysis of the commodity and displaying quality parameters of the commodity to benefit buyers. It also aims at providing price details to the seller to enable him to decide the time and price of sale.
- (c) Having a more transparent auction process through leveraging of technology by providing a well-designed electronic auction platform and redefining rules of auction to improve transparency.
- (d) Promoting increased participation of buyers by reforming conditions of grant of trader licence and opening up licences to any person in the state/country. This would encourage participation from other locations and improve price discovery.
- (e) Resolving post-auction difficulties by integrating weighing of produce with the auction process and communicating details of the weight recorded and the amount payable/receivable to the buyer/seller.
- (f) Increasing market access by creating warehouses proximate to the farm to receive the goods, account it against individual producers, testing the same for predetermined quality

EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITIES IN FINE ARTS

Dr. Jai Shankar Mishra

Art is an expression of human imagination, creativity and emotions. Art has always been a source of inspiration for mankind. It has also consoled us in the time of despondency and disappointment. The way to express or exhibit the feelings of human heart is called 'Art', where creativeness accompanies aptitude. Through art, man manifests feelings and expresses his thoughts without words and voice. Since ancient times, man has been taking to art to get rid of tension, fear and danger. With the passage of time, art has become one of the necessities of life. The Sanskrit scholar Bharthari says Sahitya, Sangeeta, Kala viheena, Sakshat Pashu puchha vishan hinah, !! (Without art, man is like an animal which lacks tail and poison.)

Fine Arts can be divided into two categories, the performing arts and the visual arts. Performing arts include mainly the music, dances, drama and plays which are performed on stage and are based on various acoustic and optic visualizations, while the other, being silent, speaks through colour, strokes and shapes. According to the taste and choice, we get attracted towards art. The aim of art is to achieve, not to gain. The visual art gathers various modes of art, which always work for human welfare along with providing the pleasure of being one with supreme soul.

Representation of art exists in various forms. The imagination of an artist is beyond the colour and strokes. Based on the contemporary demand of market, help of modern technology is also being taken. Therefore, the career opportunities are constantly increasing in this field. There are numerous career opportunities on full time basis or as a Freelance Artist. One may select any of the following branches of visual arts according to his/her taste and choice.

Painting- This is the most ancient medium of art. The creation of two-dimensional art on any plain surface by the means of lines and colour is known as painting. Paintings are the expression of feelings and the strongest way of communication. That is why this is considered as the best medium among all types of art.

Today, the creation of paintings has moved beyond the realistic and folk styles and based on the representation of internal feelings. Most of the times, there is no shape or figure seen in these paintings but still they attract one's heart and soul through their beautiful arrangement and composition of colours. The medium and representation of colours have now changed. Oil colours and water colours have been replaced by acrylics and mix-media. Along with the quality of canvas or substratum, framing is also very important. The following formation of the paintings are being practiced over the world-

Medium- Water colour, Oil colour, Acrylic colour, Mix-media etc.

Technique- Fresco, Tempera, Mural, Wash painting etc.

Subject matter- Composition, Landscape, Portrait, Still-life, Creative, etc.

Sculpture:- The art of sculpturing is a visual expression of three dimensions in a solid form. It is in practice since time immemorial. People use a sculpture or a figure for expression, worship, decoration, fear, memory and identifications. The oldest Indian literatures; the Vedas, the Puranas, and the Upanishads have focused on the use and importance of sculpture in detail. Later the Ramayana, the Mahabharata and other literature with Buddhism and Jainism have also described different types of sculptures and their role in religion and society. There are so many temples and kalamandapas everywhere in India and even abroad. Therefore, the art of sculpture has played an important role in the development of religion, values and culture of the society. There are many places in our country famous for Indian sculptures. We all know about Khajuraho, Elora, Konark, Sarnath etc. The sculpture from Gandhar, Mathura and Kushan also reflect cultural development of that period. Our country has vast cultural and religious activities. In these activities we use many types of sculptures for whole of the year. Some of them are permanent and others are temporary i.e for the occasion of certain period (festival, vrata and pujas). Indian religion describes thousands of vrata and pujas, in which we need a specific figure in different part of this land. Indian religions have millions of gods and goddesses for worship and pray according to vrata and pujas.

Fine art (visual and performing) is a medicine for mental relaxation and it is a tool of meditation, self satisfaction, joy and expressions. In fine art, Sculpture is a branch of visual expression like Paintings. Where as Painting is a two - dimensional expression, but sculpture is a three - dimensional expression. There are many methods and processes in practice to create a sculpture and many types of materials are being used to shape or make a model or figure or a sculpture. Today this art is being used on glass, fiber glass, plastic and other innovative media after using this art on terracotta, stone, wood, metal etc. These days, there is no need of particular medium or material for the expressions. The artist can use mix media for their expressions. various ways of formation of sculpture are:

Medium- Clay (Terracotta), Plaster of Paris, Cement, Wood, Stone, Metal, Fiber glass/Synthetic Stone, Wax and lac, assembling with mix Media etc.

Method- Modeling, Moulding-Casting, Carving, Installation etc.

Commercial Art:- The relationship between art and employment is very old. Most of the 64 arts described in the Indian literature are directly associated with professions of the people and the remaining are related indirectly. The advertisement industry has huge scope of providing employment. The advertisement of trade products, public interest issues, public awareness issues and information dissemination are the main parts of this branch. The Commercial art is used a lot in print and electronic media. Without the help of commercial art, we can't imagine an effective advertisement.

It is also called Applied Art. In the section of this art form, letter writing, Poster and Banner making, Book cover and presentation, emblem, Monogram, Illustration, Grphic design, Hoardings, Flax advertisements, Visualization, Campaign planning, Audio-visual Advertisement, etc are taught. The field of applied art consists of study of products and demands of market, packaging and presentation of the products, subject-matters of message and advertisements etc. Audio-vidio media like photography and vidiography with cinematography are also related to this field. The presentation of art based on machines and new techniques opens the broad scope of occupation and employment.

Graphics or Print Making:- This is a branch of painting. It is also known as a Print-making. This art can be created on both media i.e black & white and coloured. In this technique, we use leno or wood cut. First, we engrave our drawing or imagination on lenonium sheet or wood panel and then print this work with press on the sheet or a surface. In the beginning litho press-lithography is used for this technique. Litho was a kind of heavy stone which was used for this type of printing. Today, modern and light techniques have replaced litho and made it easier.

Textile Designing:- It is one of the most popular and useful streams of fine arts which provides lots of employment opportunities to the youth. Textile Design means the design on clothes (clothes, drapery, floral cover, curtain, canopy etc). This field designing is closely associated with our basic needs. We have been wearing clothes since ancient time and we use many types of clothes with different design and colours. It has been used for thousands of years to protect our body from heat, cold and water. Apart from these utilities, we always want to look smart and beautiful in well designed and coloured clothes. We can use decorative designs and motifs on clothes. various ways of the textile designing are : Fabric Colour Technique, Tie and Dye Technique, Batik Technique, Screen Printing Technique, Block Printing Technique, Applique Technique, Soft Toys and Puppetry Making and Carpet Designing Technique.

Pottery Ceramics:- The art of pottery-ceramics is being used since ancient times. This is a part of our daily life and no one can live without the use of pots. The initial form of this art was limited to terracotta but now it has been extended to bone-china and porcelain. Blue pottery is still very attractive and popular. Different ways of formation of this art are :Pottery, Tiles making, Ceramic desgning, Bone-china, Porcelain, sanitary work.

Photography:- From the beginning, photography is being practiced as one of the professions. When the object snapped by a camera, appeared on the bromide sheet through the chemical process, artists used to wave with joy and pleasure. But now, the time has changed and ultra-modern techniques have replaced the magical world of black and white photography. Photographic reels (negative) have been replaced by digital cameras. However, the creativity and artistic approach of camera can never be ignored. Through innovation and new techniques, the photographers are still in business.

Different types of photography being practiced are: Landcape photography, Life and portrait photography, Still life photography, wild life photography, bird photography, Sea photography, Event photography, Geological photography, etc.

There is a huge and regular demand of art pieces everywhere in India and abroad. There is requirement to install a sculpture on road-junction, a park, in a lawn, corridor of a building or in a drawing room of a house. Even shopkeepers need art pieces for advertisement of their products and articles, especially in cloth stores and jewellery shops. We find different types of models wearing attractive clothes and putting on precious jewellery. We also want to cover front or interior wall with a huge panel of painting, mural or relief. Everyone likes to decorate his/her house with paintings and sculpture which may be realistic or abstract. There are Art galleries, Emporiums and Art malls are flourishing in the big cities. parameters and making available all details to the electronic platform of the nearby market. This will obviate the need to reach the market physically. Funding of commodities stored in warehouses would increase the holding power of the farmer.

In the proposed online agri-market place, the farmers bringing their produce to local Agricultural Produce Market Committee (APMC) would have choice to sell their produce to local traders or buyers registered with online platform but stationed outside the APMC locality or even the physical boundary of the state. Currently, the farmers are restricted to sell their produce only at APMC market that often charge high levies or taxes on the produce. Now there will be one licence for entire state, there will be single point levy. There will be electronic auctions for price discovery. The impact will be that the entire state will become a market and the fragmented markets within the state would be abolished. Seamless transfer of agriculture commodities within the state can take place and market size for farmers would increase as he won't be limited to a captive market. Often farmers do not get remunerative prices for their produce due to lack of access to alternate marketing mechanism.

While the physical transaction would continue to be conducted through concerned APMC, the online platform would allow the bulk buyers, processor and exporters to participate directly in trading at the local mandi-level through NAM, which would reduce cost of transaction.

The Small Farmers' Agribusiness Consortium (SFAC), a lead promoter of the online NAM, would offer special software to each mandi which agrees to join the national network free of cost. Besides, SFAC would ensure timely delivery and settlements of payment for agriculture produce. For registration with NAM, the concerned state must provide single licence to traders, which would be valid across the physical boundary of the state. The APMC would have to provide for electronic trading and issue licences to traders from any region or state who would operate through online trading. Due to integration of all the APMC markets through online platform, the volume of business would significantly increase as there will be greater competition for specific agricultural produce, resulting in higher volume of transaction fees for the mandi.

There are three basic criteria for a State to propose mandis for "plug-in" to NAM:

- a) The State APMC Act must have a specific provision for electronic trading
- b) The State APMC Act must provide for issue of licences to anyone in India to trade through the NAM in the local mandis.
- c) There must be one single licence for each State to facilitate trading in all the mandis of that State and a single point levy of transaction fee.

Better understanding of the benefits from the system in terms of transparency, better price discovery, quick settlement of sale proceeds and generation of accurate and timely market information may encourage more and more number of farmers to bring their produce to the market. This will help in enhancing the efficiency of the market and position of farmers in the entire supply chain. The availability of market information enhances market performance by improving the knowledge of market players. Balance of knowledge provides a more equal distribution of gains from efficient market price formation

The gradual integration of all the major mandis in the States into NAM will ensure common procedures for issue of licences, levy of fee and movement of produce. In a period of 5-7 years we can expect significant benefits through higher returns to farmers, lower transaction costs to buyers and stable prices and availability to consumers. The NAM will also facilitate the emergence of integrated value chains in major agricultural commodities across the country and help to promote scientific storage and movement of agri - goods.

Agriculture sector accounts for employment of more than 60% of the population, contributing about 16% of GDP. So far as self-employment of the sector is concerned, bulk of it is contributed by its production aspect and a vast potential on its marketing front still remains to be explored. This can be attributed partly to the paucity of infrastructure and partly to the absence of congenial regulatory regime encouraging private investment in the sector. Agricultural marketing takes care of the post-harvest activities of the crops viz. cleaning, grading, packaging, transportation, storage, processing, and development of markets for their smooth transactions and dissemination of market information. All these functions help in creation/addition of time, place, form and possession utilities to a product. The present agricultural marketing system of the country, however, leaves much to be desired, as it is facing a number of handicaps, such as lack of requisite infrastructure, long marketing channels, overriding role of middle men, low farmer's share in consumer's rupee, and unhealthy controls and restrictions discouraging private sector investment etc. Hence, there is a need to go for capacity building of all stakeholders in agricultural marketing developing skills in agricultural marketing and agribusiness is essential.

National Skill Development Council has estimated the requirements of professional manpower in agricultural marketing and agribusiness management and has come out with the assessment that the current output of professional graduates in these areas is less than one-fifth of the current requirements of the organized sector.

Way-Forward

Agriculture sector needs well functioning markets to drive growth, employment and economic prosperity in rural areas of the country. In order to provide dynamism and efficiency in the marketing system, large investments are required for the development of post-harvest and cold chain infrastructure nearer to the farmers' field. Well developed marketing infrastructure and efficient marketing system in the country will promote competitive trade as well as facilitate farmers' access to value addition services such as grading and storage, etc. on one hand and reduce supply chain inefficiency and post-harvest losses on the other. Report of the Working Group on Agricultural Marketing Infrastructure, Secondary Agriculture and Policy Required for Internal and External Trade for the XII Five Year Plan 2012-17 has assessed investment requirements of more than Rs. 56,000 crores for development of different infrastructure during XII Plan Period. A major portion of this investment is expected from the private sector for which an appropriate regulatory and policy environment is necessary. Alongside, enabling policies need to be put in place to encourage procurement of agricultural commodities directly from farmer's field and to establish effective linkages between the farm production and the retail chain and food processing industries. Towards this end, the States need to amend their marketing laws in true spirit on the line of model APMC Act and Rules to streamline storage and supply of produce in the country, thereby, harnessing the advantages of NAM in real sense.
