A few decades back, nobody would have imagined that getting connected to people across the globe would become so simple and accessible. Everyday enormous information flows across innumerable people spread the world over every nano second. All this has become possible because of one unique feature called the computer networking. Computer networking refers to the process of connecting two or more computers using hardware and software tools thereby supporting data communication among the devices. It would not be an exaggeration to say that there is hardly any domain today that remains non-penetrated by computers. More and more companies are adopting the online format for their operations. Computer networking has pervaded almost all the spheres and sectors such as healthcare, education, commerce, telecommunications and many others. Be it government or non-government, public or private sectors, network connectivity is used extensively. As the name indicates, networking is a complex of technical function wherein various technological processes are involved. Networking encompasses providing configuration, installation operations besides conducting analysis of networks such as LAN (Local Area Network) and WAN (Wide Area Network). The job of networking professionals includes monitoring network logs, diagnosing and troubleshooting problems, adding new servers and providing assistance and support to end-users with respect to evaluating vendor products, system upgrades and many such functions. In the recent times, threat to network security from hackers and other cyber crimes are on the rise. This entrusts the networking professionals with another important challenge of safeguarding databases and other core application from network hackers and fraudsters. Providing protection from viruses is yet another key function of these professionals. The design, installation, infrastructure and management of day-to-day operations are the prime responsibilities of networking workforce. In other words, they need to manage every issue in the networking domain and ensure the smooth functioning of network services.

The educational requirements include graduation with science background. Those who are zealous in making a career in networking are advised to take up computer science, electronic engineering, information sciences and telecommunications in their graduation level. Pursuing a course in computer hardware gives a cutting edge to the aspirants. These courses will equip them with sound knowledge of networking fundamentals. This knowledge helps them performing their job role efficiently with respect to configuring PCs (Personal Computer) routers and switches, assembling and disassembling various hardware components, installing computer software and monitoring and maintaining computer network infrastructure and troubleshooting. The courses also enable them to get familiarized with firewalls and security configurations.

Hiring companies look for global certifications besides hand-on experience. Networking aspirants may appear for certifications offered by top IT companies like Microsoft, Cisco and Sun Microsystems among others. Cisco Certified Network Associate (CCNA), Cisco Certified Design Associate (CCDA), Microsoft Certified Professional (MCP), A+ from CompTIA, Linux+ are some of the basic entry level certifications. The other intermediate certifications are Cisco Certified Network Professional (CCNP), Microsoft Certified Systems Administrator (MCSA), Microsoft Certified Systems Engineer (MCSE), Microsoft Certified Solution Developer (MCSD), Network+, Security+ and Server+ from CompTIA or Certified Information Systems Security Professionals (CISSP), Cisco Certified Internetwork Engineer (CCIE), Cisco Certified Security Professional (CCSP), Certified Information Security Manager (CISM), Security Expertise in Management (CISSP-ISSMP), Security Expertise in Architecture (CISSP-ISSAP), Brocade Certified SAN Designer (BCSD) and Security Essentials Certification (GSEC-GIAC) are some of the important advanced certifications in the field of networking.

Preparation through self-study and online mock tests will be an advantage for Networking aspirants. Pearson VUE (<http://pearsonvue.com>) and Thomson Prometric (<http://www.prometric.com>) are the two key providers. Enrolling with them is required for appearing for certification exam. Getting certifications is certainly an advantage for career progress. However, one should not go to end there. The field of IT is fluid and is growing each day. Therefore, updating the knowledge constantly is mandatory. The basic requisite is having keen interest in computer technology. Apart from this, one need to put in hard work and be dedicated and self-disciplined to excel in career.

Different IT organisations offer networking related positions with different nomenclature. The job titles range from Systems Administrator, Network Administrator, Network Engineer or Network Technician. The list goes on to cover the positions such as Network Programmer or Analyst. The salary is based on the role and position you are into. At entry level, diploma holders may earn in the range of Rs. 8,000 - Rs.10,000 while certifications help you earn in the range of Rs. 20,000 - Rs. 25,000. Again it all depends on the company that hires you. Possessing multiple certifications coupled with hard work will enable you to draw even higher salaries. With big, medium and small companies adopting networking into their operations, the domain is ever growing offering a plethora of job prospects. So, the future is all bright and promising for skilled networking professionals and aspirants.

ball pen only to darken the circles. For writing in boxes, they should use black ball pen. Since the entries made by the candidates by darkening the circles will be taken into account while evaluating the Answer Sheets on computerised machines, they should make these entries very carefully and accurately.

The candidate must mark responses in the Answer Sheet with good quality black ball pen.

10. Method of marking answers

In the "OBJECTIVE TYPE" of examination, you do not write the answers. For each question (hereinafter referred to as "Item") several suggested answers (hereinafter referred to as "Responses") are given. You have to choose one response to each item.

The question paper will be in the Form of TEST BOOKLET. The booklet will contain item bearing numbers 1, 2, 3 etc. Under each item, Responses marked (a), (b), (c), (d) will be given. Your task will be to choose the correct response. If you think there is more than one correct response, then choose what you consider the best response.

In any case, for each item you are to select only one response. If you select more than one response, your response will be considered wrong.

In the Answer Sheet, Serial Nos. from 1 to 160 are printed. Against each numbers, there are circles marked (a), (b), (c) and (d). After you have read each item in the Test Booklet and decided which one of the given responses is correct or the best, you have to mark your response by completely blackening to indicate your response. Ink pen or pencil should not be used for blackening the circle on the Answer Sheet.

For example, if the correct answer to item 1 is (b), then the circle containing the letter (b) is to be completely blackened with black ball pen as shown below :-

Example : (a) ● (b) ● (c) ● (d) ●

11. Entries in Scannable Attendance List

Candidates are required to fill in the relevant particulars with black ball pen only against their columns in the Scannable Attendance List, as given below :-

- Blacken the circle (P) under the column (Present/Absent)
- Blacken the relevant circle for Test Booklet Series
- Write Test Booklet Serial No.
- Write the Answer Sheet serial No. and also blacken the corresponding circles below
- Append signature in the relevant column

12. Please read and abide by the instructions on the cover of Test Booklet. If any candidate indulges in disorderly or improper conduct, he will render himself liable for disciplinary action and/or imposition of a penalty as the Commission may deem fit.

13. The candidates are not allowed to leave the Examination Hall before the expiry of prescribed time period of the examination.

AnnexureHow to fill in the Answer Sheet of objective type tests in the Examination Hall

Please follow these instructions very carefully. You may note that since the Answer Sheets are to be evaluated on machine, any violation of these instructions may result in reduction of your score for which you would yourself be responsible.

Before you mark your responses on the Answer Sheet, you will have to fill in various particulars in it.

As soon as the candidate receives the Answer Sheet, he/she should check that it is numbered at the bottom. If it is found unnumbered he/she should at once get it replaced by a numbered one.

You will see from the Answer Sheet that you will have to fill in the top line, which reads thus :

केन्द्र Centre	विषय Subject	विषय कोड S. Code	<input type="text"/>	अनुक्रमांक Roll Number	<input type="text"/>	<input type="text"/>	<input type="text"/>	<input type="text"/>	<input type="text"/>	<input type="text"/>
-------------------	-----------------	---------------------	----------------------	---------------------------	----------------------	----------------------	----------------------	----------------------	----------------------	----------------------

If you are, say, appearing for the examination in Delhi Centre for the General Studies Paper and your Roll No. is 081276 and your Test Booklet series is 'A', you should fill in thus, using black ball pen.

*This is just illustrative and may not be relevant to the Examination concerned.

केन्द्र Centre Delhi	विषय Subject General Studies (A)	विषय कोड S. Code	9 9	अनुक्रमांक Roll Number	0	8	1	2	7	6
-------------------------	-------------------------------------	---------------------	-----	---------------------------	---	---	---	---	---	---

You should write with black ball pen the name of the centre and subject in English or Hindi.

The test Booklet Series is indicated by Alphabets A, B, C, or D at the top right hand corner of the Booklet.

Write your Roll Numbers exactly as it is in your Admission Certificate in the boxes provided for this purpose. Do not omit any zero(s) which may be there.

The next step is to find out the appropriate subject code from the Time Table. Now encode the Test Booklet Series, Subject Code and the Roll Number in the circles provided for this purpose. Do the encoding with black ball pen. The name of the Centre need not be encoded.

Writing and encoding of Test Booklet Series is to be done after receiving the Test Booklet and confirming the Booklet Series from the same.

For General Ability subject paper of 'A' Test Booklet Series you have to encode the subject code, which is 99. Do it thus.

पुस्तिका क्रम Booklet Series (A)	विषय Subject	9	9
①	①	●	●
②	②	●	●
③	③	●	●
④	④	●	●
⑤	⑤	●	●
⑥	⑥	●	●
⑦	⑦	●	●
⑧	⑧	●	●
⑨	⑨	●	●

All that is required is to blacken completely the circle marked 'A' below the Booklet Series and below the subject code blacken completely the Circles for "9" (in the first vertical column) and "9" (in the second vertical column). You should then encode the Roll No. 081276. Do it thus similarly :

Important : Please ensure that you have carefully encoded your subject, Test Booklet series and Roll Number.

FRUWASH TECHNOLOGY AN INSTRUMENT FOR CREATING EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITIES

- Chander Mohan

Indian Institute of Technology Delhi (IIT Delhi) has developed a technology through which the shelf life of fruits and vegetables can be extended for long period of time without refrigeration. This technology has the capability to reduce the post harvest losses in the fruit and vegetable sector and it has the potential to provide employment opportunities to the unemployed BPL (Below Poverty Line) youth of the fruits and vegetable producing states. IIT has this long term project aimed at achieving food security for the people through creation of new job opportunities, innovative ways of reduction in solid wastes and its management and increasing economy through sustainable development by utilizing scientific developments in the area of horticulture produce after harvesting. This was considered to be very important because it has been estimated that over Rs.40,000 crore worth of fruits and vegetables get perished in India alone and do not reach the consumer or the fruit processing units. It has been estimated that about 40 percent of the total produce gets wasted through the farmers and orchard owner's toil very hard to get maximum output of their crops.

Dr. H. M. Chawla, Professor, Department of Chemistry, IIT Delhi has developed a biodegradable emulsion through which shelf life of harvested fruits and vegetables can be extended for a long time (without refrigeration). Compared with unwashed fruits, the shelf life of such washed fruits increases from three days to six weeks at ambient high temperature (10-45 degree Celsius) and given a name FRUWASH means washing of fruits and vegetables with this liquid prepared from a Natural raw material indigenously available in the form of crude lac. The crude lac is available in the states of Madhya Pradesh, Jharkhand, West Bengal and Orissa and is usually collected by the tribal population of Central and Eastern India, several thousand additional jobs would be created in these four ancillary sectors for the BPL families in the tribal population of India who are engaged in collection of the raw material and its initial processing.

As per 2001 census, out of over 102 statutory) towns. Agricultural laborers constitute 10.6 crores of the total work forces as against 17 lakh workers in the house hold industry sector. More often than not, the rural youth does not find sustainable jobs that could provide reasonable living for them. In many cases they migrate to urban areas in search for jobs. However, they get exploited by the urban people because of their simple and innocent nature. Therefore, if promoted as an innovative technology, FRUWASH technology can not only

The key points in generation and challenges of new technology oriented jobs require that the adopted technologies are innovative, available, replicable and sustainable at grass root levels where educational levels are inadequate but people still have to be brought above poverty line. Since most of the BPL families live in the rural sector, the technology developed should primarily be at the rural level through low income group persons in the cities should be able to adopt it with equal ease and even a liv-provide answer to development, generation of sustainable opportunities but also to improve the economic status of weaker sections in rural India and discouragement in migration to cities for employment. It has been estimated that out of about 40 percent of wastage of Fruits and Vegetables produced, if we are able to save even 2 percent of perishable Fruits & Vegetables segment, we can save about 800 crores annually which is enough to feed 5 million people with the balanced fruit and vegetable diet as recommendations of Indian Council of Medical Research (ICMR) besides offering sustainable job opportunities to a large number of rural youth. In order to reduce unemployment and ing on sustainable basis. Recently, five BPL families were given the opportunity to sell the vegetables and fruits in the local area and earn their livelihood. A demonstration and training camp was organized at Khureji Khas in East Delhi by the R.G. Foundation (an NGO) to select the needy for getting benefit of this developed technology. Five out of so many were selected and the Rehari and Takhat were given to set up their business as self employed and earn on daily basis. In Himachal Pradesh it has empowered 34 unemployed BPL youths in the district of Bilaspur and Solan. Out of this 34 entrepreneurs, 14 are females. Most of them are running their business smoothly.

Thirty Eight TDDP (Technology Demonstration and Dissemination Programs) have been organized at National as well as International level (viz. Dubai) and (apart from field demonstrations). In most of the cases the desired results achieved.

To generate sustainable jobs for economically weaker sections of the society and the rural youth a roadmap for future intervention is being developed on the basis of the observations while implementing the same. The program has produced the positive results.

Capability Development: The entrepreneurs are building their confidence and improving their ability to continue and grow their business.

Business Development: BPL youth are improving their skills and are trying to sell new products along with fruits and vegetables in order to make their business more sustainable in future. Their trust on FRUWASH has increased to a great extent as most of them have tried and tested it.

Self-reliant and Improvements in Income: Most of them are getting an income of Rs. 2,750 per month, which is expected to grow in future.

Besides the above it has helped in other ways too:-

- In reducing post harvest losses
- In promoting the use of FRUWASH technology among the farmers and fruits and vegetables sellers
- In reducing poverty as well as unemployment
- In upgrading the skills of the unemployed BPL youth
- In increasing the income of the farmers and unemployed BPL youth
- In increasing awareness/social awakening among unemployed BPL youth

The proof of concept of extending shelf life of fruit and vegetables by using a natural product derived from abundantly available Indian bioresource and its efficacy has already been provided by real life demonstrations in eleven different states of the Indian Union. National Laboratories and Universities at Delhi, Mumbai, Ahmedabad, Ludhiana, Amritsar, Lucknow and Gorakhpur have accomplished collection of scientific,

IFS EXAMINATION IN A NEW FORMAT: A PERSPECTIVE

-S.B. Singh

The scheme of IFS (Indian Forest Service) examination conducted by UPSC every year has undergone significant changes in the latest modification brought out by UPSC. The recent changes introduced in the Civil Services examination pattern must have necessitated the change in the IFS examination also. In fact, these changes were long overdue. The main objective of the new format is to make the IFS examination adopt a better system of recruitment of IFS officers mentally better equipped to face the new challenges in their coveted services. Both IFS and Civil Service Examinations now have two features in common. One, both are a three-stage examination comprising prelims, mains and interview. Secondly, emphasis on the GS paper has been further added in both. The recent changes in the IFS exam pattern have brought it closer to the Civil Services pattern in the following respects:

1. There is a common screening test for both the examinations called the preliminary examination.
2. The main examination consisting of optional papers, General Studies, Essay, and English Language Test.
3. Both have a viva-voce test which carry almost similar marks (for IFS, the interview marks are 300 and for Civil Services 275).

Despite these similarities, the two examinations are dissimilar in the following respects:

1. The weightage of GS in the IAS examination is much more than the GS in Indian Forest Service.
2. There is a separate paper on essay in the IAS examination whereas in IFS examination essay is just a part of the English language test.
3. The GS syllabus of Civil Services is much vaster than that of IFS.
4. Although for both the IAS and IFS examinations, the prelims exams is to be held on the same date, the IFS mains examination shall be conducted at least a month before the IAS mains examination giving the IFS aspirants less time for mains preparation for those candidates who appear in both exams.

Main Implications of the new Scheme of IFS Examination

Previously the IFS examination used to follow a different calendar but under the new Scheme it has been tagged with the Civil Service Examination. Aspirants for both examinations will now find themselves appearing for the Prelims examination on the same day and quite naturally both will need same preparation time for the Prelims. Secondly, most if not all the IFS aspirants will now be tempted to write both IFS and IAS examinations simultaneously because there is the advantage of a single test at the Prelims exam and they can opt for one same optional subject for the IAS exam out of the two opted for IFS. Thirdly, the English test can also be prepared for both IFS and IAS exam simultaneously. Finally, the GS mains syllabus of the IFS examination will help in GS preparations for the Civil Services and vice-versa.

Thus, the recent notification by UPSC for both the exams has provided many points of convergence between IFS and Civil Services examinations. In fact, the new IFS examination pattern has moved closer to recruiting a civil servant in the name of Indian Forest Service. This is a natural development because IFS is basically intended to provide governance to Forest, Wildlife and Environment laws, which require abilities of a civil servant. Besides, many of its officers work in capacities as civil servants under various department and ministries. Introducing the preliminary exam for the IFS is a welcome change and it will filter out non-serious and incapable candidates at the initial stage itself and only candidates with certain basic level of knowledge will be able to write the main exam now. Earlier it was free for all kind of a scenario under which all candidates were directly allowed to take the main examination. However, one can always question the decision to tag both IFS and civil services preliminary exam together. IFS is a distinct cadre with its own characteristics. This presents a strong case for a separate prelims exam for the IFS examination. One hopes that UPSC realizes this sooner than later and announces a separate format for IFS prelims examination.

Explaining the GS mains syllabus

The syllabus for IFS GS mains examination has been summarized by UPSC as follows:

General Knowledge including knowledge of current events and of such matters of every day observation and experience in their scientific aspects as may be expected of an educated person who has not made a special study of any scientific subject. The paper will also include questions on Indian Polity including the political system and the Constitution of India, History of India and Geography of a nature which the candidate should be able to answer without special study. This brief description of the GS syllabus only provides its broad contours without any details. A candidate has to understand the scope of the GS syllabus in order to comprehend the topics underlying each component of the syllabus.

● Current Events: It is the most dynamic aspect of the GS syllabus which requires regular coverage of national, international topics. Special attention should be paid to areas such as sports, events, personalities; environmental issues national and international institutions, economic concepts etc. The best way to cover current issues is to read one or two reputed newspapers daily. Moreover, watching TV news, preferably Doordarshan News, Lok Sabha TV and Rajya Sabha TV can supplement one's knowledge on current events. The following newspapers, magazines may be read regularly:

- The Hindu (Newspaper)
- The Economic Times (Newspaper)
- Frontline (Magazine)
- Down To Earth (Magazine)
- Kurukshetra-Hindi/English (Publications Division)
- Yojana which comes every month in Hindi, English, Assamese, Bengali, Gujarathi, Kannada, Malayalam, Marathi, Oriya, Punjabi, Tamil, Telugu and Urdu.

In addition, one can also use various internet sites which compile relevant materials on current affairs. Reference materials like the India Year Book, (brought out by Publications Division) Economic Survey will prove handy in current affairs preparations.

● Indian Polity and Constitution: This section will have questions on two major areas viz. the provisions of the constitution and its actual working. For example, one should know about Parliament's functions and also its actual working. In other words, both the constitutional and operational aspects of Indian polity need to be covered. Furthermore, there will be questions on challenges confronting our political system e.g. centre-state relations, coalition politics, electoral reforms etc. The suggested readings are:

- D.D.Basu: Indian Constitution.
- P.M.Bakshi: Indian Constitution.
- S.C. Kashyap: Citizens and the Constitution (Publications Division)
- S.C.Kashyap: Our Parliament.
- S.C.Kashyap: Our Constitution.
- S.C.Kashyap: Our Political System.
- B.S. Baviskar & Ash Narain Roy: Local Governance - A Global Perspective (Publications Division)

The operational aspects of polity have to be covered through newspapers and magazines.

History of India: In this section, questions can be asked from ancient, medieval and modern parts of Indian History. But more questions shall be from Modern India. The following source - material will sufficient for a good coverage of Indian History.

- Ancient India: R.S.Sharma (NCERT)
- Medieval India: Satish Chandra (NCERT)
- Modern India: Bipan Chandra (NCERT)
- Freedom Struggle: NBT
- India's Struggle for Independence: Bipan Chandra.

Geography: It is not stated in the syllabus whether this area will cover only Geography of India or World Geography as well. In any case, most of the questions should be on aspects of Indian Geography. NCERT books on geography from standard VI to XII provide excellent study material for GK preparations. Besides, one can buy a good dictionary on geography published by Oxford or Penguin publication. The Hindu group of publications comes out with Survey of Indian Agriculture and Industry. Excellent data can be culled from these sources for information on current aspects of Geography.

Two concluding observations can be made here. One, since the Prelims exam of IFS has been made common with the Civil Services examination, a candidate has to orient his preparations for the exam exactly on the pattern on Civil Services Prelims examination. Secondly, for IFS GS Mains preparation, a long term strategy has to be adopted now because the new syllabus is far more expanded than the earlier syllabus in its scope.
