MAJOR STRIDES IN HIGHER EDUCATION

Nandini Jawli

India's higher educational institutions have been continuously providing corporate leaders to pioneering companies world over. The latest name to shine is Sundar Pichai, who has been appointed the Chief Executive Officer of Google. He studied metallurgical and material engineering from Indian Institute of Technology (IIT) Kharagpur. Last year Satya Nadella, a graduate of Manipal Institute of Technology, became the CEO of Microsoft. No doubt Pichai and Nadella have acquired necessary managerial skills and moulded into the corporate leaders while working in America, but it's also a fact that they were shaped into technology wizards at Indian institutions. Some Indian institutes are excelling in giving the best of education, but there is a need to establish many more such world class institutes in the field of science, technology, mathematics and space sciences, to ensure the steady supply of young professionals for growing India. The present government at the centre has realised the need of growth in the field of higher education and is giving an impetus to education with the aim of making India a knowledge superpower. The Human Resource and Development (HRD) ministry has taken some path-breaking initiatives with the focus on equipping students with the necessary skills and knowledge to succeed in the competitive world.

The last major rethink in education was undertaken in 1986 and things have changed drastically since then. The government has realised this and has initiated the process of formulating the New Education Policy in tune with the present challenges, needs and demands. A multi-level consultative process involving all stakeholders, such as, educationists, teachers, and students is being undertaken. It will look into two themes in higher education, namely, 'addressing regional disparity' and 'bridging gender and social gaps'; and is aimed at ensuring equality in educational opportunity to all students. The HRD ministry has asked citizens and educationist to record their opinions regarding the new education policy on MyGov, a platform for citizen engagement towards good governance in India.

The government's budgetary allocation for 2015-16 has increased the funds for higher education by nearly 13 percent. The Finance Minister proposed to set aside Rs. 69,074.76 crore for education and out of this amount, Rs 26,855.26 crore has been pegged for higher education. Though there has been a marginal drop in overall funds provided towards education, a measure criticised by some sections, but the government justifies its decision by providing more funding for higher educational institutions.

One of the sectors that witnessed tremendous growth in the country after independence is the sector of higher education. The number of universities has increased 34 times from 20 in 1950 to 677 in 2014. There are currently 45 Central universities, 318 State Universities, 185 State Private Universities and 129 Deemed to be Universities. The sector boasts of 16 IITs, 30 National Institute of Technologies (NITs) and 5 Indian Institutes of Science Education and Research (IISERs).

The present government aims at creating more institutions of higher learning and reduce the regional disparities as far as elite institutions of advanced studies are concerned. With this objective, the government has

- Usually, the selection to the posts will be made on the basis of an Interview/ Personality Test/ Skill Test. Mere fulfilling of minimum prescribed qualifications etc. will not entitle an applicant to be called for the Interview/ Personality Test/ Skill Test. Commission may make a preliminary selection of applicants on the basis of their educational qualifications, academic records, percentage of marks, etc., and the applicants thus selected will be required to undergo an Interview/ Personality Test/ Skill Test.

- ii. The Commission, may at its discretion, decide to hold a Proficiency Test in appropriate subject for any of the categories of posts or to make a screening of applicants on the basis of percentage of marks on the EQ, where it is felt necessary, before the applicants are called for Interview/Personality Test/Skill Test/Proficiency Test.
- iii. The Commission may at its discretion, waive holding of Proficiency Test in those categories of posts where a Proficiency Test has been prescribed.
- iv. Detailed programme/schedule of such screening test, if and when decided to be held, will be posted at Commission's website (www.sscer.org). Candidates are, therefore, advised to visit the regional website from time to time in their own interest.

Note: The Interview/Personality Test is structured in such a manner that the applicants' interests, knowledge, various traits, aptitude, suitability etc. are probed, among other things, through academic qualifications, extra-curricular activities, general awareness/knowledge, depth of knowledge of the subject studied on the level of 'Essential Qualification' for the post, communicative skill and personality etc.

B. SCREENING TEST

- iii. SC, ST and OBC candidates, who are selected on their own merit without relaxed standards, along with candidates belonging to other communities, will not be adjusted against the reserved share of vacancies. Such SC, ST and OBC candidates will be accommodated against the general/unreserved vacancies as per their position in the overall Merit List. Insofar as cases of Ex-Serviceman are concerned, deduction from the age of Ex-Serviceman is permissible against the reserved or unreserved posts and such exemption cannot be termed as relaxed standards in regard to age.
- vi. Success in the examination confers no right of appointment unless the Government is satisfied after such enquiry as may be considered necessary that the candidate is suitable in all respects for appointment to the service/post.

Note: The candidates applying for the examination should ensure that they fulfill all the eligibility conditions for admission to the examination.
