TAXATION- CONCEPT AND TRENDS

-Pooja Rangarapad

The government performs diverse functions ranging from defence of the country and maintenance of law and order in the country to promoting economic development and delivering social services like education and healthcare. Clearly, the government needs a significant amount of financial resources for delivering all these services. It mobilizes these funds from the country’s resources mainly through taxes, custom duties, stamp duties, etc. These resources go into various categories:

1. Tax Revenue
   - Tax Revenue is at the heart of the government’s financial planning and budgeting process. It is the primary source of revenue for the government and is used to fund public services, infrastructure development, and social welfare programs.

2. Non-Tax Revenue
   - Non-Tax Revenue includes various sources of income such as fees and charges, grants and transfers from other governments, and income from investments and real estate.

3. Expenditure
   - Total Expenditure includes both current and capital expenditures. Current expenditures are for day-to-day operations, while capital expenditures are for long-term investments in infrastructure and public services.

4. Fiscal Policy
   - Fiscal policy is the government’s strategy for managing its revenue and expenditure to achieve economic objectives such as price stability, growth, and employment.

5. Fiscal Deficit
   - Fiscal deficit is the difference between the government’s revenue and expenditure. It is a key indicator of the government’s financial health and its ability to meet its obligations.

6. Balance of Payments
   - Balance of Payments is a record of all economic transactions between a country and the rest of the world. It includes both current and capital transactions.

Understanding the above concepts is crucial for analyzing the government’s financial performance and making informed decisions regarding economic policies.

Tax-GDP ratio

Gross Domestic Product (GDP) is an indicator of the size of a country's economy. In order to assess the extent of taxation, it is important to consider the GDP. The tax-GDP ratio is a measure of how much tax revenue is collected by the government as a percentage of the GDP. A higher tax-GDP ratio indicates a greater reliance on taxation as a source of revenue. The tax-GDP ratio is an important indicator of the fiscal health of a country and is used as a benchmark to compare the tax burden across different countries. The current tax-GDP ratio is 32.1%.
